A business built around sustainability

Environmental sustainability is one of Clover's core values. We strive to engage and educate our employees, demand quality and performance in our production, and seek newer and better alternatives every day for minimizing our environmental footprint.

Remanufactured printer cartridges are an environmentally friendly printing solution

When a printer cartridge is remanufactured by Clover Imaging, it's a reused cartridge – a cartridge that would have otherwise ended up in landfill. A remanufacturable cartridge is disassembled and as many components as possible are reused. Reusing cartridges is the highest form of environmental responsibility.

Clover Imaging vs OEM Cartridges

Consistent, reliable performance

Every Clover Imaging cartridge goes through a comprehensive quality performance system. This includes OEM benchmarking, rigorous component testing, environmental chamber testing, and a centralized quality monitoring system.

Crisp, vibrant colour, page after page.

In recent independent testing, in every single test, Clover Imaging colour laser cartridges performed equally to the national brand cartridges in reliability, image quality, and pages produced.

Here's how Clover Imaging remanufactured printer cartridges stack up against the competition.
